

EMPOWER | SUPPORT | JUSTICE

Sahachari

Your silent supporter — turning pain into paperwork in minutes.

An intelligent legal companion for survivors of domestic violence in Nepal.

Roshni Tamang

24, Pokhara Metropolitan City

Background: Inter-caste marriage, disowned by family, zero social safety net. Works as a hotel receptionist.

The Incident: Walked into her local Ward Office with a handwritten cry for help. The secretary dismissed it as "informal and vague."

The Need: A tool that translates her raw, traumatized narrative into a "flawless legal weapon" that cannot be rejected.

Her Reality

- Trapped in a cyclical pattern of severe physical and psychological abuse by her husband.
- Gathered courage to walk into the Ward Office and hand over her handwritten account.
- Secretary rejected it: "informal vocabulary, lacks proper legal structure."
- Left without filing. The systemic humiliation completely crushed her spirit.
- Cannot afford a lawyer. Cannot safely search legal resources on her phone at home.

"She left without filing. The system failed her at the door."

The Problem

Why survivors are turned away at the door

"Complaints are commonly rejected for informal vocabulary and lack of legal structure."

— based on interviews with legal aid workers at FWLD and WOREC

Rigid Legal Language

- Formal legal Nepali required
- Survivors submit informal requests
- High rejection rate

No Legal Aid Access

- High legal costs
- Limited free legal aid
- Justice becomes inaccessible

Digital Surveillance Risk

- Phone surveillance by abusers
- Unsafe access to legal help

The Scale of the Problem

Why domestic violence in Nepal needs a better filing system

16,416

Domestic violence cases registered

68.3%

Of all GBV cases are domestic violence

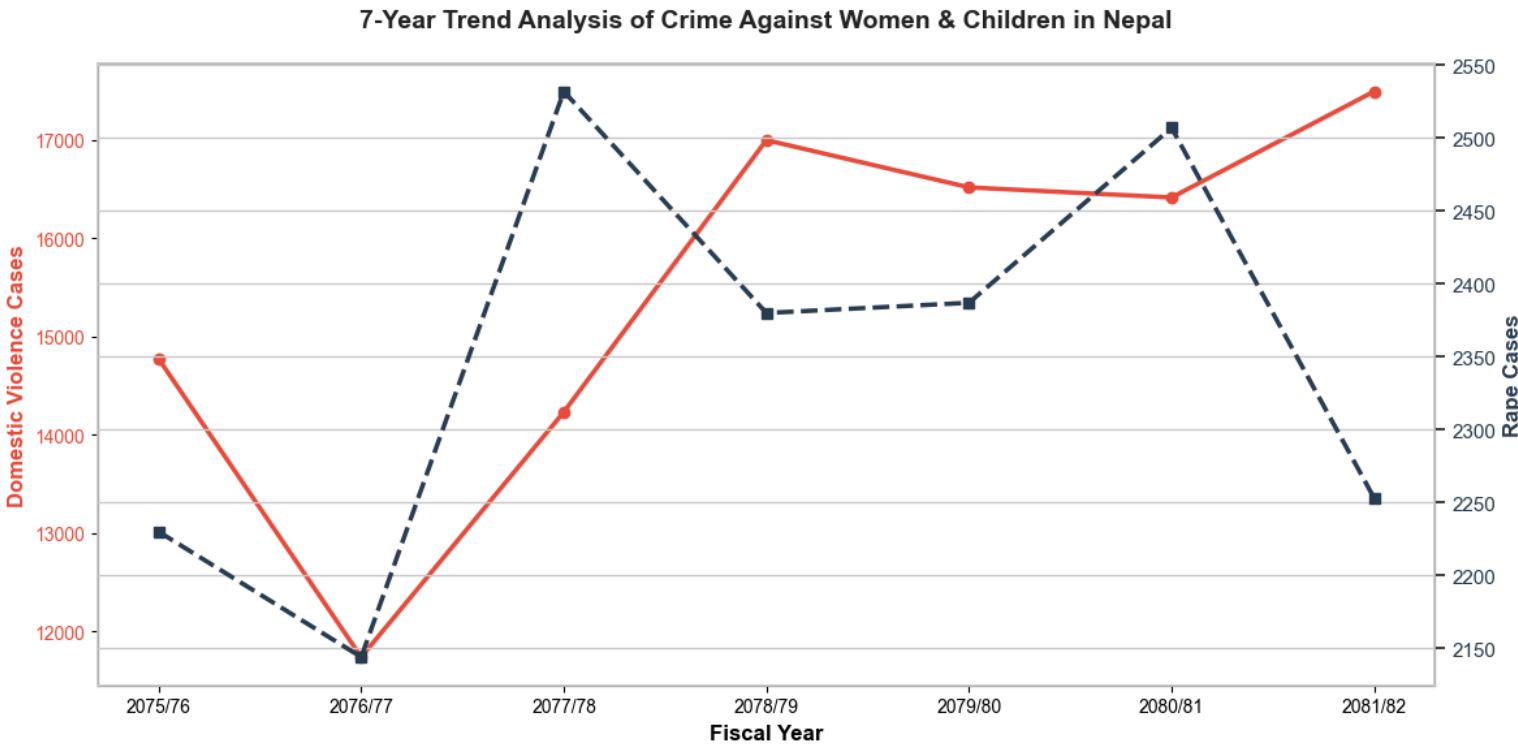

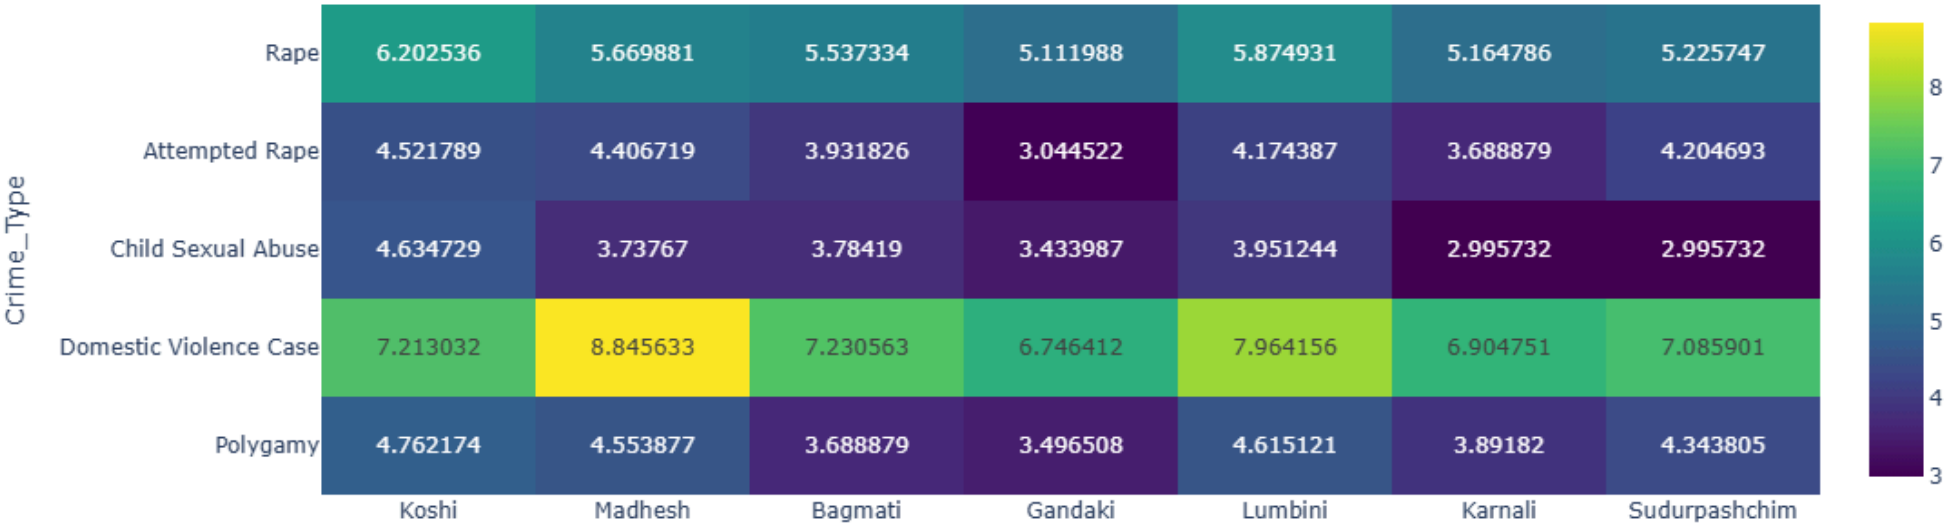

5–10×

Estimated real incidents vs registered

53

WCSCs in our RAG dataset

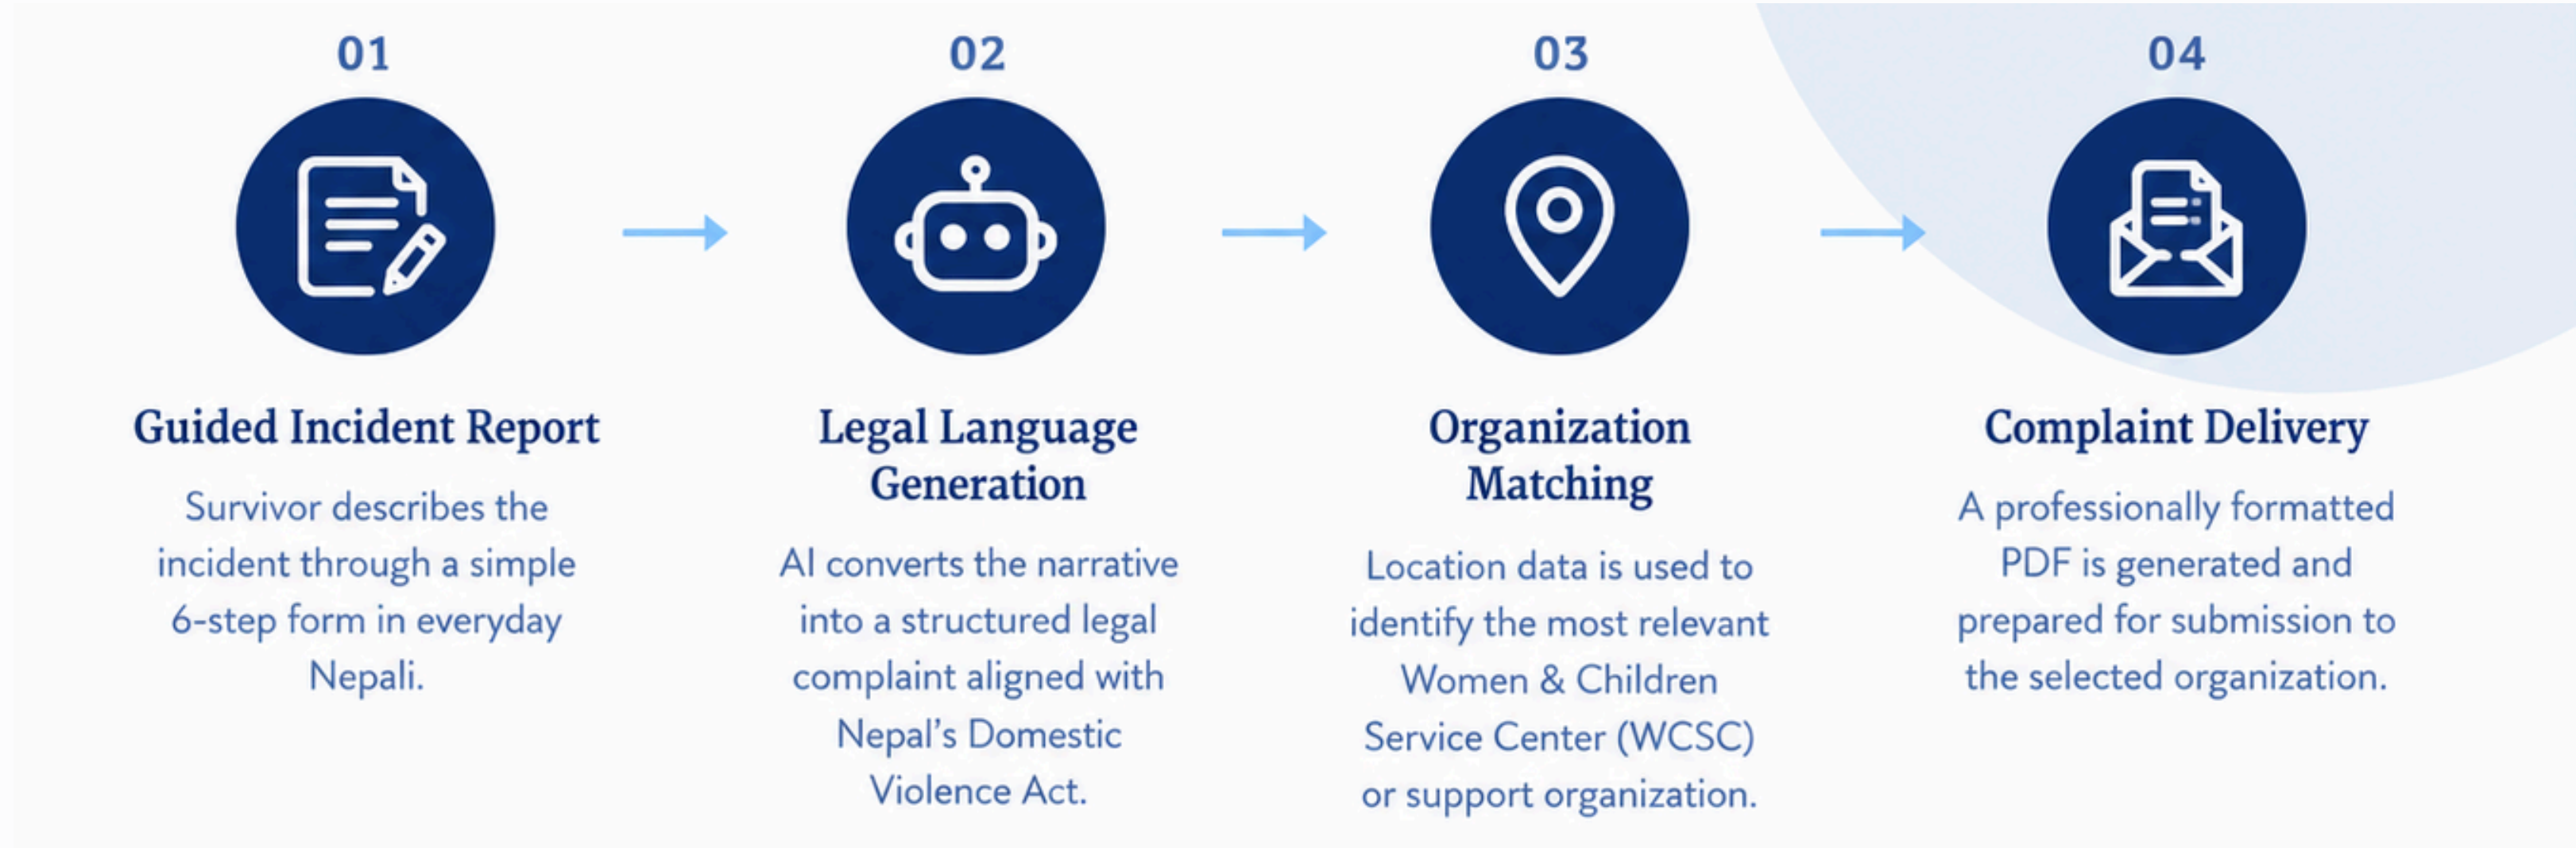

Log-Scaled Heatmap of Crimes Against Women & Children by Province (FY 2081/082)

"Complaints are commonly rejected for informal vocabulary and lack of legal structure."
— based on interviews with legal aid workers at FWLD and WOREC

The Solution – SAHACHARI

How Sahachari transforms a victim's story into a legally valid complaint

OUTPUT DOCUMENT INCLUDES

- ✓ Structured legal complaint in formal Nepali
- ✓ Relevant legal references and complaint sections
- ✓ Correct recipient organization based on location
- ✓ Emergency helpline information and support resources

Key Features

Zero-Trace Privacy

No account creation. No data stored. Safe to use even on a monitored device.

Legal Compliance

Legal Compliance Output structured under the Domestic Violence (Offence and Punishment) Act, 2066. Formally addressed to the correct judicial committee.

Term Mapping Engine

RAG Organization Matcher Location-aware matching of 53 WCSCs by province and district — nearest organization identified and displayed to the survivor for direct contact.

Bilingual Input

Accepts casual Nepali or English — any way the survivor naturally writes.

Smart PDF Output

Professionally formatted Nibedan in Devanagari script — ready to print and submit.

Safety First Design

Designed for survivors in crisis — simple, fast, and trauma-informed interface.

THE ABSOLUTE WIN

- ✓ Roshni walks into the Ward Office holding a pristine, professionally formatted PDF.
- ✓ The secretary cannot turn her away — the document is legally impeccable.
- ✓ Her case is formally registered in minutes.
- ✓ She leaves with a tangible, official pathway to safety and a protection order.

I M P A C T

1 in 4

Women in Nepal experience
domestic violence

2nd highest

Domestic violence — most registered GBV crime
in Nepal Source: Nepal Police WCSC records

0 Cost

Completely free
for the survivor

Every rejected application is a door closed on someone's safety. Sahachari keeps that door open.

Sahachari

Your silent supporter — turning pain into paperwork in minutes.

Because no survivor should be turned away for bad grammar.

EMPOWER

SUPPORT

JUSTICE

BUILT · FOR · THE · BRAVE